REFLECTIONS OF 1967

Passing of 1967 stimulates for most of us a recollection of the events and experiences characteristic of only that year. For Seniors 1967 was the year for "Senioritis," leadership and power. For Juniors it was a year of recognition and responsibility. For Sophomores 1967 brought new friends, new policies, and the beginning of a high school education. For everyone 1967 was unique. Highlighted by successful athletic teams and permeated with school spirit, '67 will always be considered a significant year at H.H.S.

We present the 1967 KRABBA as a printed record of this year. We have attempted to employ a continual theme of reflections throughout the book with the belief that visual reflections symbolize mental reflections. In so doing, we hope the reflections of 1967 at H.H.S. will be ever present in the eyes and minds of those students and faculty members actively part of that year at Hampton High.

STUDENT LIFE

Under the broad topic of student life come all the events and experiences comprising school days at Hampton High.

Memories of the special events we shared together intermingle with meaningful memories of personal occasions, not necessarily unique.

Reflections in the faces, actions and attitudes of the Crabber student body suggest both kinds of recollection. We present the following pages in an effort to develop these reflections into treasured memories that will always reveal the student life of 1967 at Hampton High School.

S.C.A. President LH Puckett, poses with Hampton's new spirit symbol Freddie the Crab. The new Freddie was a campaign promise LH made in the spring of 1966. With the aid of the Sportsmanship Committee, the new Freddie achieved his purpose.

Chip Paradise plays the drum in an H.H.S. pep assembly. The band's participation in these assemblies contributed immensely to their success.

Though most of the school life at Hampton was composed of fun and work, some students chose to participate in neither. This student makes up for lost time by engaging in a more natural pastime than studying.

HHS Classrooms Open for '66-'67

With September and the beginning of school, students return to their daily classes. Here, an industrial arts student employs what he has been taught.

This student takes advantage of one of the many courses at Hampton High not required but offering the kind of training necessary for summer jobs. Many students taking similar courses are members of the D.E. program.

Relaxing between classes, this student relives a past year at H.H.S. with the help of a 1966 KRABBA. The cafeteria provided not only lunch but also this needed break.

Fall

Ron Siegel, Bobby Ball, Mary Swift, Jim Peterson, Jim Ogiba and Eddie Tew portray their respective roles in the fall play Carnival.

Cheerleaders lead the student body in a victory cheer at a pep assembly. This kind of support helped our football team win the Peninsula Championship.

Wilford Taylor attempts to find a seat at a pep assembly as Mr. Smith clears the aisles in the background and urges everyone to "move on up."

Two Crabbers take advantage of the short break between classes to catch up on the latest gossip.

Brings Crabbers Fun and Culture

Students celebrate another Hampton High victory at one of the numerous dances in the school cafeteria throughout the football season. Sponsored by the S.C.A., these dances proved unusually successful.

Ralph Thurman as Gobert and Mary Swift as Lilli are shown here in a dramatic scene from Carnival. Lilli's innocence captured the hearts of the audience.

Eddie Buhl plays the role of Paul Barthalet, a major character in Carnival. The time and effort donated by the many people involved in the musical made it a tremendous success. Particularly Mrs. Bobbye Draughon's delightful hand-made puppets.

1966 Football Homecoming Reveals

Senior members of the Football Homecoming Court are: Shelly Speas escorted by Jimmy Phelps, Penny Rogers escorted by Buck Fuller, and Diane McDonald escorted by Tommy Armstrong. Other members of the court were: Juniors Katie Leary and Kathy Pulliam and Sophomores Eileen Wolf and Karen Tillman.

Tommy Armstrong looks on as Diane McDonald reacts with elated surprise when crowned 1966 Football Homecoming Queen by Principal O. E. Ware.

Tears of happiness reveal Diane's emotions after the initial shock is over.

New Queen

Fellow cheerleaders offer warm congratulations to Diane after the presentation of the crown.

Paula McCoy confers with Diane and Tommy after the dramatic crowning. Other members of the court can be seen in the background.

Senior attendants Shelly Speas and Penny Rogers congratulate the 1966 Football Homecoming Queen. Diane proudly displays her well-deserved trophy with a smile that tells the story.

55-6 We Play Newport

Just for Kicks

As a symbol of the Big Red's power, this weather balloon floats in the almost cloudless sky of Turkeyday 1966. The Sportsmanship Committee acquired the balloon to stimulate school spirit for the football season. When it became evident that Hampton had won the Peninsula Football Championship, the Committee released the colorful balloon to symbolize the accomplishment of its goal.

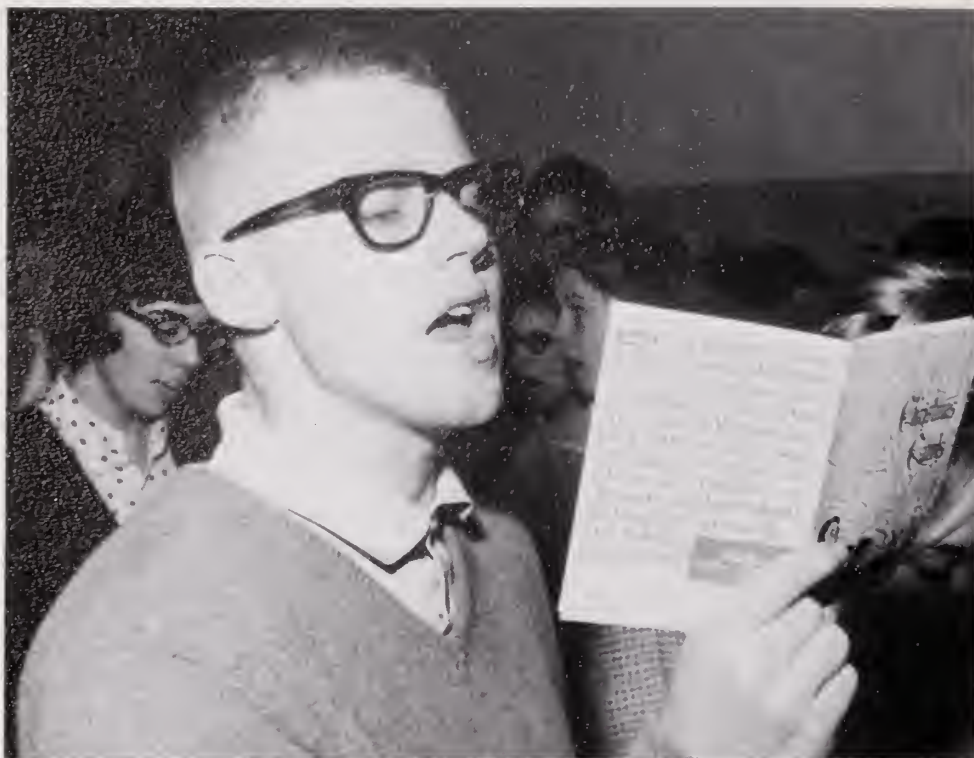

enthusiasm for the Newport game.

Coach Palmer coaches the Crabbers to a 55-6 victory over archrival Newport News.

Christmas

Larry Smith and other members of Mr. Sidney Swiggett's A'Capella Choir sing Christmas carols in the hall. This display of Christmas spirit was made possible through the cooperation of faculty and student body. Students were relaxed and prepared to enjoy themselves when they left H.H.S. for the Christmas holidays.

Christmas was also the season for culture at Hampton High. The choral department combined with sections from the band to present an excellent concert. Shown here is the same concert as it was presented for the Crabber student body.

Festivities Bring End of 1966

This portion of the Christmas tree erected by the S.C.A. in the main lobby is evidence of the time and effort Crabbers willingly contributed to decorate H.H.S. for the holiday season. The tree served as a continual reminder of the meaning of Christmas.

This display on the door of room 228 is another example of the Christmas decor in Hampton's halls.

A second group of carollers sings its way through Crabberland. By splitting into separate groups, the singers were able to reach all areas of the school. Classes often stopped to share in the Christmas spirit and to show appreciation for these talented students.

Before the crowning of the 1967 Basketball Homecoming Queen, Seniors Katie Patrick escorted by David Smith, Terry Springman escorted by Tommy Armstrong and Nancy Linkous escorted by Charles Bunn await notice of the team's decision. Other members of the Homecoming Court included Sophomores Mary Dutton and Martha Ritchie and Juniors Linda Crenshaw and Cindy Tragle.

After much suspense, the basketball team chose Katie Patrick to be their Homecoming Queen. Overcome with emotion, Katie receives the significant crown from Mr. O. E. Ware as her escort, David Smith, shows his complete approval. Each Senior member of the basketball team was then permitted to kiss the new Queen.

Basketball Sparks Winter Activities

Katie Patrick helps to lead the student body in one of the many basketball pep rallies.

Winston Read, Henry Fedzuik and campaign manager David Smith discuss their speeches prior to the elections assembly.

Crabbers Elect

Jane Huntly, Hamptonian candidate for secretary, poses with Winston Read, vice-presidential candidate; Henry Fedzuik, presidential candidate; Eileen Wolf, candidate for treasurer; and Karen Kueker, candidate for chaplain.

Enthusiastic supporters of the Hamptonian party dominated Hampton's halls and campus with posters for Henry Fedzuik and his slate. Campaign week was especially long for these hard-working Crabbers, who spent much of their time striving to put their progressive candidates into office.

The Hamptonian party's platform consisted of future plans with dedicated officers. Easily compensating for their lack of experience, the Hampton candidates for the future conducted a note-worthy campaign.

Krabbacrat Slate to SCA Offices

Krabbakrat backers
Judy Mace, Cathy
Sawyer, and Carolyn
Latham await campaign speeches before making final decision.

Elected S.C.A. officers from the Krabbakrat ticket are:
secretary Pat Patrick; vice-president Steve Turnbull; president Chris Hutton; treasurer Jack Russell; and chaplain Katie Leary.

After weeks of preparation and long campaigning the Krabbakrat slate for 1967-68 S.C.A. officers swept the polls on election day at H.H.S. The Krabbakrat caucus, in the gym, resulted in an almost all male slate for Chris Hutton's ticket, but on election day, experience appeared to be the primary quality with which Crabbers were concerned.

S.C.A. presidential candidates Henry Fedzuik and Chris Hutton
shake hands on a clean, hard-fought campaign.

Senior Play Finances Caps and Gowns

Helen Davis, as Annie Sullivan, lectures Chad Hardin, as James, in a scene from The Miracle Worker.

Anne Goodwin as Kate, Eddie Tew as Captain Keller, and Cindy Darlow as Aunt Ev await the conclusion of a fight between Helen Keller and Annie Sullivan.

To teach Helen Keller to be civilized, Annie Sullivan often had to use force as displayed in this scene of The Miracle Worker, the story of Helen Keller's life.

Annie Sullivan expresses her emotions when Helen finally submits to cooperate. Helen Keller was played by Betty Brockman.

Seniors Reminisce at Class Night '67

Seniors march into the auditorium to begin Class Night ceremonies.

Ann Goodwin portrays the role of Schnook's wife as Schnaok (Ted Liverman) looks on.

Best Dressed Seniors David Bayd and Peggy Bandurant fallaw Ted Lieverman to the "Crab Pockets" as part of a Class Night skit.

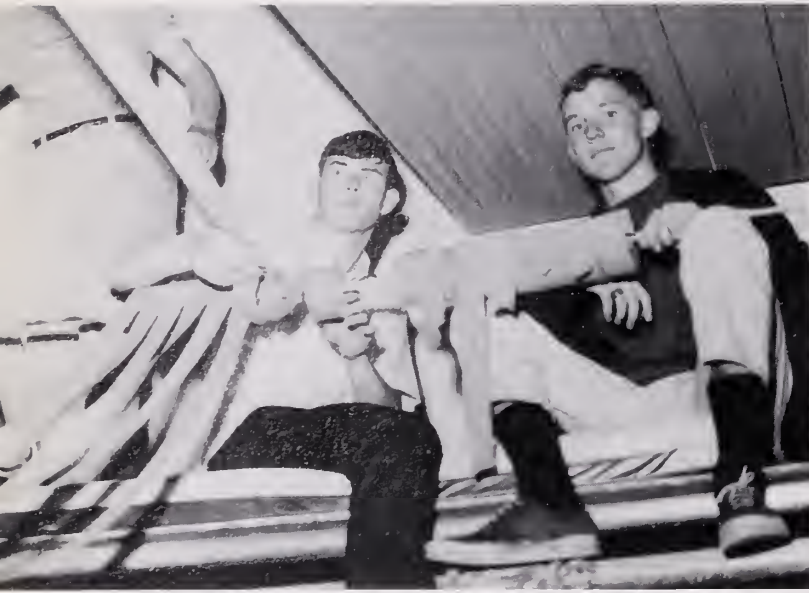

Linda Gallaer, Senior class giff-tarian, offers Mr. Ware a personal gift. Hamptan's gift from the class af '67 was paneling af the back side af the S.C.A. room.

'ALOHA' Chosen For

After long months of hard work and much anticipation, the Junior Class of 1968 presented the Junior-Senior Prom. Juniors chose Aloha for their theme, and carried it out by placing shades of blue and green in the boys' gym, along with props such as palm trees and a fountain.

Financing the prom with the Junior Class Play, the Miss Hampton High Contest, and Junior Class dues, the class of '68 gave Seniors a meaningful and memorable prom. These hard-working students were not without rewards, however. Their first high school prom was, for most juniors, an enchanting evening.

Juniors Ricky Rogers and Jim Ogiba help decorate for Hampton High's most important dance. The unselfish devotion of hard-working Juniors resulted in a commendable Prom.

Juniors Jack Russell and Mary Jo Anastasio walk up the aisle to the Queen's throne at the 1967 Junior-Senior Prom.

Mr. O. E. Ware and Mrs. Ware enjoy the Prom. The Wares were enthusiastic joiners in the annual affair.

Junior-Senior Prom Theme

Socializing was an important part of the 1967 Prom. Here several students took advantage of this facet of any formal dance.

Class of '67 Leaves Graduation

H.H.S. faculty marches in graduation ceremonies to view the class of '67 together for the last time.

Principal Oral E. Ware assumes responsibility of instructing School Board Chairman Thomas R. Watkins.

Seniors await march to begin commencement ceremonies.

Salutarian Norman Familant gives his salutatory address as the first speech in the order of exercises.

Stunned But Prepared

Valedictorian Linda Burcher gives final address before the awarding of diplomas.

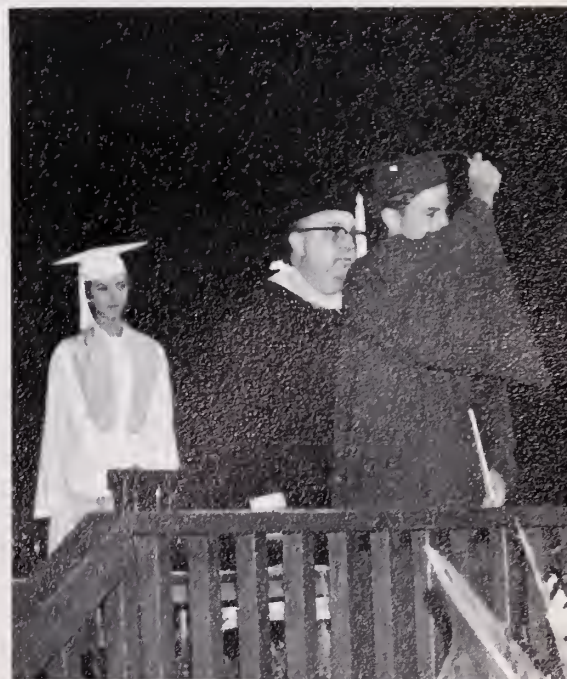

Graduation was a long awaited ceremony for most of the class of '67. It's arrival, however, was still stunning and was greeted with various emotions. Nearly every Senior receiving a diploma June 8, 1967 reminisced at some time during the ceremonies and many left H.H.S. regretfully.

The three years of training these students obtained from H.H.S. prepared them for virtually any conceivable course they might follow. Grateful Seniors graduated in appreciation for this training. The words "Hampton Evermore" rose above the crowd as these Crabbers sang their Alma Mater together for the last time.

Petra Mingee receives her diploma. Mrs. Mingee was much admired by the class for her strong will and determination in coming back to earn her diploma.

Senior Class President David Dutrow turns his tassel indicating a high school graduate. The class of '67 followed his lead to terminate their high school experiences.

ACADEMICS

Administration and faculty of Hampton High School contribute all they have learned that we might know more. Our emotional and intellectual growth is heavily dependent upon the knowledge and the guidance we receive at H.H.S.

Their acceptance of this responsibility and their wisdom in fulfilling it are reflected in the classrooms. In appreciation for these invaluable people we offer these pages of the '67 KRABBA.

We have attempted to show our faculty "in action" whenever possible, intending that their dedication might be remembered as part of the reflections of 1967.

School Board, Guidance Add Modern

Hampton School Board governs the operation of all Hampton City Schools. They are the policy making body and must act on all decisions made by the administrative staff pertaining to policy.

This group has done much this year to make Hampton High School a better school. The physical plant has been improved through the complete painting of the interior and the addition of many thousand dollars worth of teaching aides and equipment.

The instructional programs of Hampton High have been improved over the years because of the keen interest this group has in selecting and employing well qualified teachers.

The students thank this body for their efforts in our behalf.

H.H.S. Principal O. E. Ware led the administrative team, faculty, and the student body to our finest year. The year has been outstanding in academics and extra curricular activities. As Mr. Ware remarked at graduation, "This year's Seniors were truly a class of champions."

Mr. Ware, administrative head of the school, is responsible for the total school program; however, he depends on the leadership of Assistant Principals, Girls Dean, Guidance Director and Guidance Counselors.

Mr. Richard Gibson is responsible for boys attendance, financial records and assists in supervision of instruction.

Mr. Michael Anastasio serves as athletic director, directs federal forms, boys discipline, supervises building maintance crew and secures substitute teachers.

Mrs. Jane Mohr supervises girls attendance and discipline and overall direction of the clinic program assisted by our registered nurse Mrs. Marcia Golli-day.

Under the direction of Mrs. Laura Twyford, the guidance counselors planned schedules, administered college board tests and offered personal counseling.

The English Department of Hampton High School is responsible for instructing students in the required and elected fields of regular English, college preparatory English, journalism, creative writing and world literature.

Headed by Senior English teacher Mr. Elbert L. Carr, the English Department of 1967 focused the required courses around American and English literature while placing a continual emphasis, on grammar.

Added electives offered students with specific interests, opportunities to excell in such fields of English as journalism, creative writing and world literature. The resulting curriculum furthered student interest in English to prepare them for college or careers of any kind.

Classes Prepare For Varied Vocations

Robert A. Swindell

Industrial arts education is designed specifically to help prepare students for meeting the requirements of a technological culture. Industrial arts, as an integral part of the total program of education, provides unique opportunities for students to participate in representative experiences in industrial skills and processes. Industrial arts assists in the discovery and development of personal aptitudes, interests, creative technical abilities, self-reliance, sound judgment, and resourcefulness through problem solving and self-expression in an environment related to industry. It also prepares a student to enter gainful employment in our world of work. It attempts to (1) develop in each student an insight and understanding of industry and its place in our society; (2) discover and develop student talents in industrial-technical fields; (3) develop problem-solving abilities related to the materials, processes and products of industry; and (4) develop in each student skills in the safe use of tools and machines.

Department

Wide variety in the mathematics curriculum at Hampton enables each student to receive a basic understanding of mathematical concepts for daily living, higher education, and mathematical careers. This year the department was headed by Miss Iris J. Sweeney.

To give the students the ability to solve everyday mathematical problems, two courses are offered; general and consumer math. Several courses are offered for the college-bound student. These include fused geometry, advanced mathematics, two years of algebra, and trigonometry. Honors mathematics courses of calculus and math analysis are available for especially interested and talented students. The calculus class is supplemented by a television course.

Students Practice Scientific Theories

Science and its importance in our lives cannot be over stressed. Rounding out Hampton students' scientific knowledge was the Science Department, this year offering biology, chemistry, physics, and physiology to all students, regardless of college plans.

Using modern laboratory facilities and techniques, the science department, headed by Miss Kathryn Bully, helped to engender interest and a clear process of thought for a better understanding of the scientific aspects of our society and provided college-bound students with a basic background for future application of scientific methods.

Interest in Foreign Culture

Mr. Bill C. Solomon headed Hampton's language department for 1966-'67. Courses in Latin, German, Spanish, and French offered students college requirements and opportunities to broaden intellectual scopes.

The highlight of the language curriculum for the past year was a course in fifth year French. All class lectures and discussions were spoken in French and students were expected to read several French novels and write French term papers.

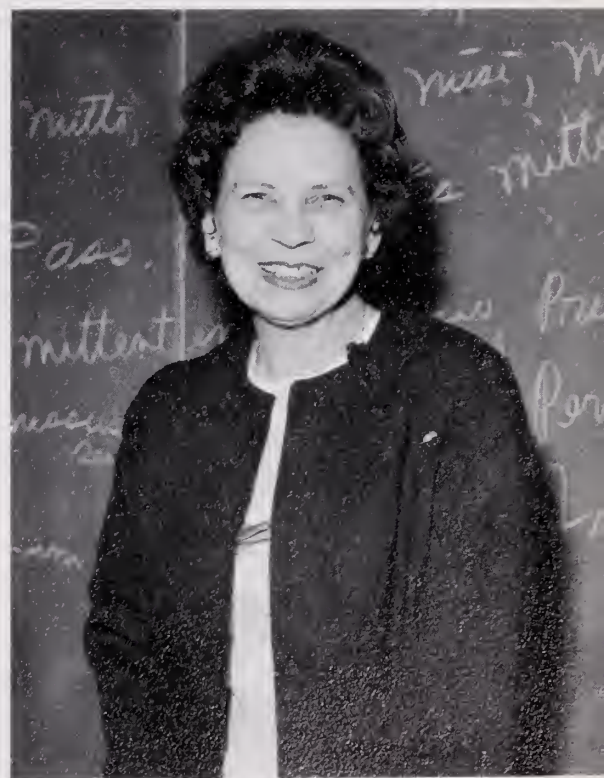

Other language courses averaged a three year maximum course of study which included enough fundamental teachings to give students the background necessary for foreign communication.

Social Studies Classes Study Current Issues

Required courses in the social studies department included World History, U. S. History, and U. S. Government for Sophomores, Juniors, and Seniors respectively. In all social studies courses emphasis was placed on current and modern problems affecting students either directly or indirectly.

World History classes began their study with the origin of man and proceeded to trace human cultural development up to the present society.

U. S. History concerned itself with the development of America and her people. Important facts and people were part of the course of study, but they were stressed less than the inevitable why's of history.

Business Department offers students

Business courses at Hampton High offered opportunities for students to learn skills and concepts leading to vocations in the field of business management. Most students under this curriculum went directly into the vocations for which they had been trained. A number of students enrolled in college preparatory programs, however, took courses such as typing and shorthand to aid them at college.

Distributive education courses offered students on-the-job training. This year's classes were especially successful in the honors and awards they received. For the first time in Virginia's history, D.E. classes placed a student in national competition. Janet Vaughan received the title of Third Distributive Education student in the nation.

The accomplishments of the business department thus revealed themselves in the individual vocational accomplishments of the students involved.

H.H.S. Home Economics Department, under the direction of Miss Doris G. Kelly, instructed interested girls in the practical art of housekeeping for their future reference. Using their own home conditions, students were assigned home projects which were later checked by teachers on visiting the pupil's home. In class students learned various skills such as cooking, sewing and cleaning.

Rounding out Hampton students' interest in the fine arts were dedicated members of the faculty teaching subjects such as art and music. The benefits derived from these courses were numerous. Students learned to appreciate the differences between talented artists and amateurs. They were also given the opportunity to participate and develop skills in the fields of art and music.

PE Department Promotes Athletic

Joseph Beck
P.E.
A.B., Fairmont State

Physical education is considered an important part of Hampton High's curriculum. Each student is required to have three high school credits in P.E., but may take additional courses if he so desires.

Coach Glen Russell heads the department with Mrs. Johnnie Blair aiding in the girls' area. The work of this man, and others like him have produced many championship teams, a basis for Hampton's great pride. Our superior rating in sports is the result of much practice, brought about through the efforts of these P.E. teachers.

It is the aim of the P.E. Department to prepare one physically for the place he will take in society.

Library Staff and Office Clerks

Hampton High's excellent library is an important factor in student's daily learning process. This institution of knowledge encourages appreciation of literature and enjoyment of good books through the dedication of the library staff.

The library offers a varied collection of literature, among these, professional pamphlets, novels, reference materials, newspapers, recordings, and magazines. Maintaining a space where teachers may reserve books is one of the library's many services to Hampton. A paperback book store is also operated by the library staff for the benefit of teachers and students.

Anita Thomas
Secretary, main office

Dare B. Taylor
I.B.M. operator

Hampton High's clerks, somewhat behind-the-scenes, are responsible for the success in accurate book and record keeping for the students this year.

Mrs. Lou Belle Thorpe, working in the book store, is a life-saver to students who forget pencils or paper. Mrs. Dare Taylor, whose office is no longer in the school, runs our larger and more modern I.B.M. system in Newport News; while Mrs. Ann Jacobson is responsible for all bookkeeping at Hampton.

Mrs. Anita Thomas, who left after first semester, helped in the main office, and Mrs. Marty Golliday took care of Hampton's sick students in the clinic.

Efficient Staffs Keep HHS In

Keeping Hampton High in efficient running order is a job requiring much hard and diligent work by both the maintenance and cafeteria staffs. Under the direction of Mrs. Louise Phelps, the cafeteria staff prepares a variety of lunches for over 2,000 students each day. As an extra courtesy, they serve juice and snacks to students before classes in the morning. In addition to preparing and serving meals, the cafeteria staff is also responsible for cleaning the cafeteria and organizing the chairs and tables to seat Hampton's enormous student body.

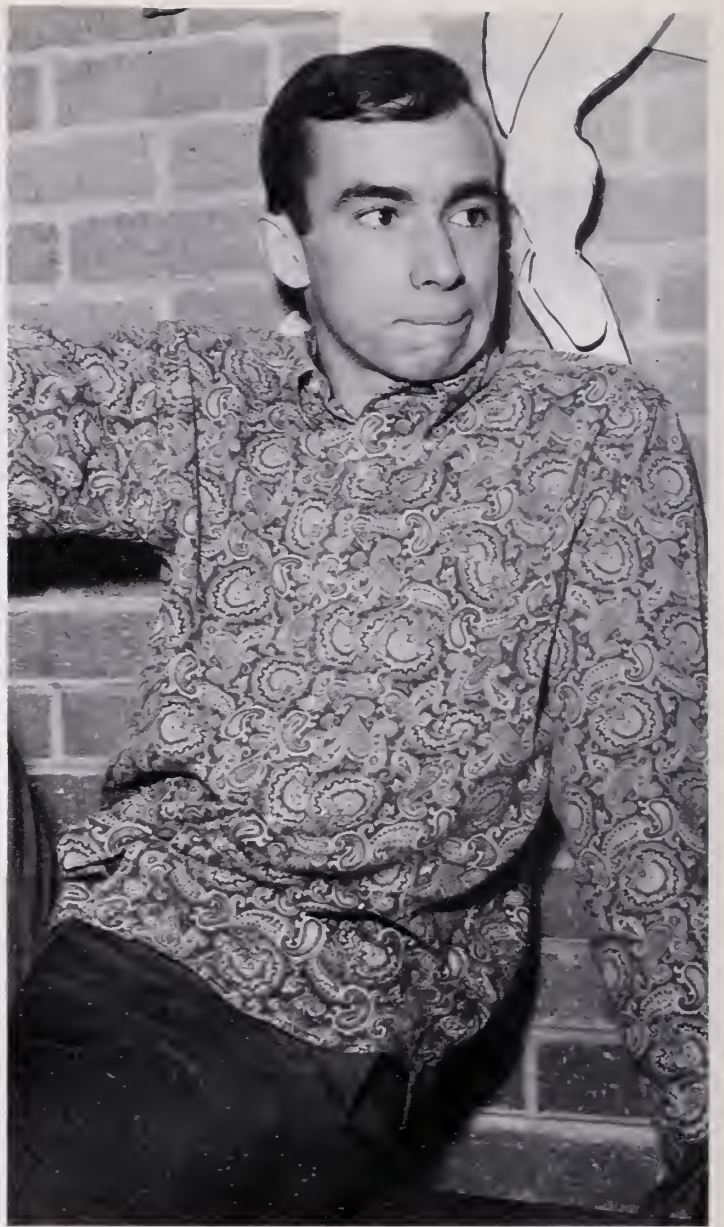

Supervised by Mr. Doyle, the maintenance staff of Hampton High arrives at school before the first students appear and their work is not complete until long after students and faculty have gone home. The efficient staff operates six days a week, assuring proper heating, lighting, and cleanliness throughout the school.

Good Running Order

CLASSES

From the three classes of Hampton High School come the participants in school activities. These three groups of students provide H.H.S. with its leaders, its heroes, its fans, its scholars and its outstanding school spirit. The Senior, Junior and Sophomore classes are the source for all the action and the memorable events taking place at Hampton in any year.

Each student reflects some small portion of the general impression H.H.S. makes on our community. Each reflection is then viewed by members of the community to form the outstanding reputation for which Hampton High has long been recognized. The three classes of 1967 enhanced this reputation. We can proudly declare the scholastic and athletic honors won were a direct result of the combined efforts of all three classes at Hampton High. Reflections from the classes of 1967 were noteworthy and memorable.

H.H.S. class of '67 faced added responsibilities this year. As Seniors, these Crabbers led most of the school's organizations and continually offered more school spirit than any of the other classes.

Special events for Seniors included the Senior Class play, a professional production, the Junior-Senior Prom Aloha, Senior Skip Day, Class Night, Baccalaureate, and long awaited Graduation.

This year's Senior class gave Hampton High School an added factor to boast about for years to come.

Leading the Junior class were officers: (Seated) Treasurer Jane Huntley and Secretary Mary Doug Thornton (Standing) President Steve Turnbull and Vice-President Chris Hutton.

Junior Kathy Johnson is crowned Miss Hampton High by Mr. Stanley Mitchem.

To raise money for the annual Junior-Senior prom, Juniors under the direction of Mr. Stanley Mitchem, sponsored the Junior class play The Girls in 509 and the Miss Hampton High contest. The Juniors were envied by underclassmen when they received their class rings and a traditional kiss from a senior. The college board exams climaxed the year for the mid-streamers.

Mitchem Guides Junior Class

Jane Huntley pauses while decorating the boys' gym for the 1967 prom.

Class sponsor Mr. Stanley Mitchem helps with the work on the prom as he did with all the activities of the juniors.

Juniors Become More

As part of her make up for the part of Mimsy in The Girls in 509, Cindy Darlow sets her hair using most of a jar of setting lotion. Bill Griffith and Jerry Haliday watch attentively.

Sophomore class officers were: (Standing) President Pat Patrick and Vice-President Mike Anastasio (Seated) Treasurer Martha Ritchie and Secretary Eileen Wolfe.

Cautiously like swimmers about to enter icy water, H.H.S. Sophomores quietly filled the halls. Within a few weeks they could pass for semi-sophisticated upperclassmen.

Under the sponsorship of Miss Kathryn Bully, the Sophomores learned to cheer H.H.S. and hiss Kecoughtan and Newport news. They traveled in flocks to Charlottesville to back our outstanding basketball team.

The underclassmen elected officers and SCA representatives and effectively voiced their opinions in campus affairs.

Sophomores found pep assemblies an exciting aspect of school life at HHS.

Bulley Sponsors Sophomore Class

J.V. Basketball Coach Robert Shamblin gives Pat Patrick important instructions, the kind that gave them a winning season.

Receiving well deserved recognition is the the J.V. Basketball team. With players like these the class of '69 can expect an outstanding basketball season.

ORGANIZATIONS

From the almost unlimited variety of organizations at Hampton High come the extra-curricula activities essential to a well-rounded education. These clubs provide a means for relaxation and furthered development of special interests. The leaders of these organizations are the leaders of H.H.S. and possibly the leaders of the future.

Reflections of the accomplishments and the excellent reputations of these organizations are clearly visible in the pictures and copy of the following section. The active, responsible students of Hampton inevitably appear in these pages to reflect the extra participation characteristic of school spirited Crabbers.

Service and honor denote in two words the purpose of the Hampton High School Speech Club. Membership in this organization provides recognition for students excelling in the fields of public speaking, debating, radio and drama. To receive a bid a candidate must have accumulated 10 points in any of those fields.

To encourage student participation in public speaking, the Speech Club awards plaques or trophies to the winner of the Voice of Democracy Contest and to the Speaker of the Year.

Under the guidance of sponsor Mr. Stanley Mitchem, this year's Speech Club performed such services as the donation of food to brighten some needy person's holiday and the promotion of school spirit through Thanksgiving door decorations contest.

Officers President Martha Bockoven; Vice-president Ann Goodwin; Secretary-SCA representative Kathy Carpenter; and Treasurer Lewis Littlepage, led the club to a wider range of activities and greater recognition.

Office assistants were volunteer students contributing spare time to aid school officials. These students ran errands and performed time-consuming jobs that the administration could never have completed alone.

This invaluable aid was much appreciated by the faculty and the student body. This year's membership increased and the unselfish devotion of the members contributed to the smooth functioning of Hampton High administration duties.

Office assistant Molly Grant works as a KRABBA editor besides her duties in the office.

Effective Teen Council Is Organized

Teen Council members for 1966-'67 were Sophomore Representative Judy Hendin; Senior Representative Honsi Chorles; Junior Representative Beth Robbins; and Senior Representative Mike Bowler.

As a result of significant debates among prominent city leaders, Mrs. Ann Kilgore, Mayor of Hampton, organized the Teen Council. The purpose of the organization is to promote a better and closer relationship between city leaders and Hampton youth. Representatives from all three high schools in Hampton served on the Teen Council.

The Hampton chapter of the Teen Council originally consisted of only two members, Berry Edwards and Martha Bockoven. (These students were appointed only for the summer of 1966.)

sweatshirts and nighties to raise money. Also, in the first fall assembly, the Varsity Club presented the Varsity Cheerleaders with megaphones. This year the Club presented for the first time a $200 scholarship to one senior of the Varsity Club.

This year the Youth for Christ's quiz team won a trophy at the Peninsula Youth for Christ Quizarama. There are Peninsula rallies each Saturday night where students participate in these quizzes which increased their knowledge of the Bible through fun and relaxing means. The Y.F.C. meetings were enriched by various speakers throughout the year and people of all denominations were welcome to attend.

SPORTS

Athletic competition at Hampton High has long been considered a significant factor of school life. Sports for the school year 1966-'67 were certainly no exception. Regional championships were almost commonplace, and nearly every H.H.S. athletic team boasted a winning season.

Success in Hampton's sports, however, was not limited to team accomplishments. Crabbers were also renowned for their overwhelming school spirit. Reflected in the faces, voices, and attitudes of more than 2000 Crabbers was a form of school pride rarely exhibited on a high school level. This support not only inspired our athletic teams far beyond expectations but it also showed area schools and area residents that Hampton High School was far ahead, both in physical ability and individual character development. Sports for 1966-'67 will always arouse reflections of one memorable year at Hampton High.

Cross Country Takes District Third

Climaxed by a run-away victory over Newport News on Turkeyday, the 1966 H.H.S. football team fought its way to an almost perfect season. Despite a three week slump when the Big Red suffered defeats from Maury and Andrew Lewis and tied York, Hampton recovered to win its last six games. In Peninsula District play the team remained unbeaten with a 5-0-1 record, while the over-all record was 7-2-1.

Hampton was led by All-Stater Red Trevillian and All-District selections Chris Hope, David Smith, and Donnie Carden. A tremendous team effort, however, gave the Crabbers one of their finest seasons.

Led by All-Staters Jerry Llaneza and Jimmy Phelps, the mighty Crabbers made a shambles of the Peninsula District race and man-handled arch-rival Newport News for three convincing victories during the season.

After handily winning the Peninsula District Tournament the team put its perfect record to the test at the State Group 1-A Tournament at Charlottesville. In first round action, a suprisingly tough Thomas Edison team pushed the Big Red to the limit before finally losing by two points. Hampton then easily eliminated Lane of Charlottesville in the semifinals to advance to the finals and battle E. C. Glass for the state championship. However, rare, cold Hampton shooting and great play by Glass in a forced overtime enabled the Hilltoppers to squeak out a 40-38 victory. Nevertheless, our spirited support of the team was clearly displayed by the large number of fans who made the journey to Charlottesville and by those who welcomed the team on its return.

With a year of experience and a winning spirit, these boys are certain to supply H.H.S. with some powerful additions to next year's varsity team.

Varsity Baseball Team Competes

After a strong start of five straight wins, the Hampton Varsity Baseball Team had varying success during the remainder of the season, finishing with a 13-4 record. This was good enough for third place in the regular season race and earned the team a berth in the Peninsula District Tournament. However, the Big Red was eliminated in the first game by record seeded Kecoughtan in an extremely close 3-2 ball game. Crabbers deserving special credit for their efforts were pitcher Bill Niemoitka and All-Peninsula selections Mike Link and Jimmy Phelps.

This winning season was the result of hours of hard work and the grim determination to make the student body proud of the team. Because of this effort and fine showing, many members of the team will find well deserved places on next year's Varsity squad.

However, the Hampton cindermen had little trouble with other Peninsula schools and finished in a strong record place. At the state championship the mile relay team put Hampton on the scoreboard with a fourth place finish.

This year's team had several individual standouts. Among them were sprinter David Smith, winner of the most valuable player award and distance runner Kevin Brogan, who specialized in the two mile run.

Varsity cheerleaders for 1966-'67 merited and attained recognition and awards that few squads can claim. These spirit rousers attended a summer cheering camp at which they not only learned to give Hampton tremendous spirit, but also won honors for the school and themselves.

Exhibiting remarkable ingenuity and originality through the football and basketball seasons, the unselfish group of girls led Hampton High to one of its most school spirited years. By planning numerous pep assemblies and inspiring Crabbers to make them successful, the group gave athletic teams needed support. Football and basketball records show the appreciation these teams felt.

Mike Mackey looks on as spirit symbol, Freddie the Crab, arouses enthusiasm. Freddie was a tremendous aid to the cheerleaders.

Diane McDonald breathes a sigh of relief after the Lane game, while a Lane cheerleader congratulates Mike Slaysman.

ADVERTISEMENTS

We have devoted the final section of the 1967 KRABBA to the people who have given us their support and made this year-book possible. These advertisers in turn seek your patronage that they might continue to thrive and offer their aid.

While the wants and needs of all Crabbers are reflected in the following pages, the staff of '67 has also attempted to capture and hold your interest by inserting pictures of Crabbers and their activities throughout the section. To show your appreciation for these businesses and to be certain that you support those who support you, slow down and give these advertisers your sincere consideration.

Congratulations

ELECTRICITY: MUSCLE OF INDUSTRY

Behind the great industrial might of America stands a "giant workman" — electric energy. It would require the muscle energy of 70 men working 40 hours a week for one whole year to equal 10,000 kilowatt hours of electricity — less than the average annual consumption of two Vepco residential customers. Yes, electricity is the "muscle" behind our power and prosperity.

GOOD SHIPS START HERE

Fine ships don't roll off a production line. They're built efficiently and well only by men whose skills and knowledge are broad. That's why Newport News begins at the beginning with its own selective Apprentice School.

High School graduates enter on the basis of academic record. But selectivity doesn't stop there. In classroom and shop, in the drafting room and out in the yard, each man's special abilities are watched and developed.

Some become skilled and versatile machinists. Others become expert electricians or precision tool makers. Many become supervisors. Some earn scholarships for advanced training at colleges and technical schools.

We think the School's a pretty inspiring place, because its end results are good men and good ships.
